This led to him becoming the head coach for a few more years and becoming a busy tennis instructor on the public courts. In 2014 he became the head tennis professional at the Canyon's Athletic Club and started helping with instruction at the Stock Farm shortly after. Jimmy has been teaching at a private facility in Hamilton for 6-8 months a year, 4-5 days a week since 2013 and continues teaching there to this day. He strives to look after the needs of not only those students who he will be providing services to, but more importantly, work symbiotically with co-workers which will ultimately improve the atmosphere and environment at the Canyons, Stock Farm, Roaring Lion Ranch or anywhere else he can help.
